

Exec Assistant Legal

From: Debra Tegoni
Sent: Wednesday, 24 February 2016 10:48 AM
To: Exec Assistant Legal
Subject: Legal Research KLeagly privileged and Confidential

Categories: Tess To-Do

Are we able to find what the legal prohibition is in China around taking currency out of China – I understand the limit is 50,000 – can we check the exact requirement and whether there is any extension to loading up credit or debit cards etc? Pls see what you can find in public domain. No calling anyone at this stage please.

Thanks

↓
ATM.

Kind regards

Debra Tegoni | Executive General Manager, Legal & Regulatory Services | Crown Melbourne Limited
 w: www.crownmelbourne.com.au

Please consider the environment before printing this email

NOTICE:

This email and any attachments are confidential and may contain information which is legally privileged. If you are not the intended recipient of this email and have received it by mistake – please advise us immediately by return email and then delete both emails. If you are not the intended recipient of this email you must not use or disclose the information contained in this email or any attachments. No confidentiality or legal privilege is waived or lost by this transmission.

- Not easy to get ^{reliable} info about China from the web.
- China has strict regulations around the internet & privacy.
- Use "The Wall Street Journal".
- Banks such as HSBC.